

Te Whatu Ora
Health New Zealand

Long-term conditions and Te Pae Tata

Keriana Brooking – Interim National Director Commissioning, Te Whatu Ora

The Government's vision is to build a healthcare system that achieves pae ora / healthy futures for all New Zealanders. An Aotearoa where people live longer in good health and have improved quality of life, and where there is equity in outcomes for Māori and communities with inequities.

The outcomes we are trying to achieve

We want to build a healthcare system that works collectively and cohesively around a shared set of values and a culture that enables everyone to bring their best to work and feel proud when they go home to their whānau, friends and community. In doing so, the totality of the reforms are expected to achieve five system shifts.

These are:

- 1 The health system will reinforce te Tiriti o Waitangi principles and obligations.
- 2 All people will be able to access a comprehensive range of support in their local communities to help them stay well.
- 3 When people need emergency or specialist healthcare this will be accessible and high quality for all.
- 4 Digital services will mean that many more people will get the care they need in their homes and local communities.
- 5 Health and care workers will be supported, valued and well trained for the future health system.

The improvements in outcomes we aim to prioritise that will operationalise the way system shifts are achieved include:

- Equity: tackling the gap in access and health outcomes between different populations and areas of New Zealand, with a particular focus on outcomes for Māori, Pacific peoples and disabled people.
- Sustainability: embedding population health as the driver of preventing and reducing health need, and promoting efficient and effective care.
- People and whānau-centred care: empowering all people to manage their own health and wellbeing and have meaningful control over the services they receive, and treating people, their carers, and whānau as experts in care.
- Partnership: ensuring partnership with Māori in leading the design and delivery of services at all levels of the system, and empowering all consumers of care to design services that work for them.
- Excellence: ensuring consistent, high quality care in all areas, and harnessing clinical leadership, innovation, and digital and new technologies to continuously improve services.

Pae Ora (Healthy Futures) Act Health Sector Principles

- (a) The health sector should be equitable, which includes ensuring Māori and other population groups
 - (i) have access to services in proportion to their health needs; and
 - (ii) receive equitable levels of service; and
 - (iii) achieve equitable health outcomes:
- (b) the health sector should engage with Māori, other population groups, and other people to develop and deliver services and programmes that reflect their needs and aspirations
- (c) the health sector should provide opportunities for Māori to exercise decision-making authority on matters of importance to Māori and for that purpose, have regard to both
- (d) the health sector should provide choice of quality services to Māori and other population groups
- (e) the health sector should protect and promote people's health and wellbeing
